Celebrating 5 Years of Service

Change & Response Strategies, LLC

Founded in 2004 as a consortium of leadership, management, human resources, marketing strategists and corporate trainers, Change & Response Strategies (CRS) helps private, public, and not-for-profit organizations meet their business objectives by assisting them in clarifying their company vision and strategic objectives, strengthening their competitive advantage, improving their business processes, overall infrastructure, and developing their staff.

Change & Response Strategies works across all industries to include start-up, small, middle-market, nonprofit, and multinational organizations as well as at-risk businesses. Regardless of an organization's size, mission or stage in its life cycle, there is an ever-increasing demand for them to be more effective, efficient, agile, and resilient in order to maintain profitability during such challenging market conditions.

For organizations struggling to find their "ideal size", we also provide temporary transition and critical function support services as a temporary alternative to hiring full-time personnel affording organizations to sustain operations until they are ready to re-staff.
