

MORRIS PEOPLE IN BUSINESS

JUDY ADAMCSIK, RN, BAN, has been named nursing supervisor of one of two nursing teams at The Visiting Nurse Association of Somerset Hills. Adamcsik lives in Chester.

CHRISTOPHER D'MARCO, executive vice president of Morristown-based Change & Response Strategies LLC, will be a featured speaker on June 23 at the Woodcliff Lake Hilton, where he will be discussing Spiritual Intelligence.

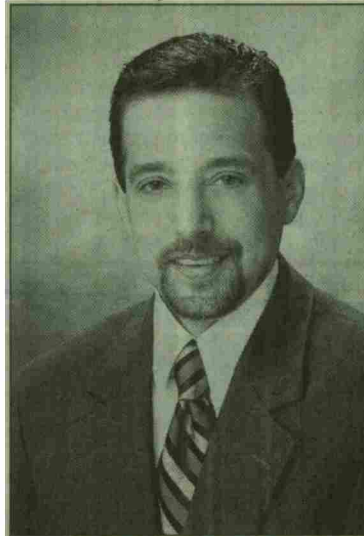

GHAYAS MANSOOR, of Parsippany-based Macrosoft, has completed all training, project work and exams for Project Management Professional (PMP) Certification. Mansoor joined the software design and development company in January 2007.

THEODORE POLAKOSWKI, of Parsippany, former director of Health Safety Security Environment Compliance at BP, has joined Citation Technologies as its vice president to build out the company's environmental management information system partnership strategies and focus on forging successful industry partnerships. Citation Technologies is based in Scottsdale, Ariz.

WEICHERT REALTORS has announced that the Corporate Headquarters Residential Sales Office in Morris Plains was recognized with regional awards in May. The entire Corporate Headquarters sales team, under the leadership of branch manager CARLO SIRACUSA, led the Weichert region in resale listings and resale revenue units. The region is comprised of 26 offices throughout Morris, Essex, Passaic and Sussex counties.

FLORENCE WYDER, RN, CHPN, of Long Valley, has been promoted from community health nurse to intake manager at The Visiting Nurse Association of Somerset Hills.

Compiled by Daily Record staff

Christopher D'Marco

Ghayas Mansoor

Judy Adamcsik

Florence Wyder

